

CARDINALS ABOVE AGE 80 ARE RETIRED

POPE PAUL VI
Preparing to retire?

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI directed today that the right to elect popes and hold Vatican office be withdrawn from cardinals past 80.

The aim was to rejuvenate the Roman Curia—the central offices of the Roman Catholic Church—and the secret "conclaves" of cardinals, the only men permitted to vote for a Pope.

It also immediately rekindled speculation about a possible retirement by the Pope himself, who is 73.

DRAMATIC APPEAL

The Pope's order came in a Motu Proprio—a document by his own hand. It follows by four years a dramatic appeal by the Pope to bishops to voluntarily retire from active office at the age of 75.

Since then there has been talk—never commented upon by the Vatican—that the Pope may be thinking of retiring himself. Today's order reinforced this idea. Paul's two immediate predecessors, Pius XII and John XXIII, both died in office above the age of 80.

The decree said cardinals 80 and over cannot even attend a conclave to elect a pope. But a cardinal who becomes 80 during a conclave can stay on.

Despite the new restrictions, cardinals remain members of the Sacred College and princes of the Church until they die, the Pope said.

The decree goes into effect next Jan. 1.

It has the effect of expelling from the Roman Curia, the central church administration, and from "other organisms of the Holy See and Vatican City" any cardinal 80 or over.

The document did not say anything about cardinals who are in pastoral jobs heading archdioceses. There remains no mandatory retirement age for them, although the Pope in August 1966 asked all bishops and cardinals to voluntarily give up their administrative positions at the age of 75.

The document today is the most important papal move since then to rejuvenate the ruling circles of the church.

By Jan. 1, 25 of the 127 present cardinals will have reached 80. Sixteen of these are among the 43 cardinals in the Roman Curia.

Of the 25 cardinals who will lose the right to elect the Pope, 11 are Italians, three are French, two Spaniards, two Portuguese, a German, a Scotsman, an Irishman, an Argentine, a Brazilian, a Mexican and an American.

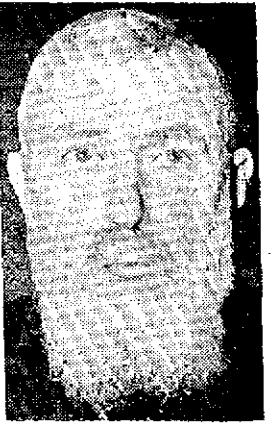

The American is James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, 84, whose resignation as archbishop of Los Angeles was accepted last Jan. 21.

The most notable cardinal affected by the decree is the dean of the Sacred College, Eugene Cardinal Tisserant of France, who is 86. He is also the Vatican archivist, a post he will lose.

Other cardinals affected include Alfredo Ottaviani, former secretary of the congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, who is 80, and Amleto Cicognani, 84.

Mercenaries Hurlled Back, Guinea Claims

ABIDJAN, Ivory Coast (AP) — The government of Guinea but Guinean forces repulsed them. The U.N. Security Council at an emergency meeting Sunday night called for the immediate withdrawal of all foreign forces in the West African country and agreed to send an investigating mission.

"The fight has not ended," Marxist President Sekou Toure's government said today in a broadcast from Conakry, the capital. "The enemy is still here. All night he tried to disembark other mercenaries, but in vain. . . . Thus the second day of the war that Portuguese colonialism has imposed upon us is beginning."

Earlier broadcasts from Conakry charged that about 350 European and African mercenaries under the Portuguese flag attacked the Defense Ministry and the airport early Sunday to divert Guinean troops from northern and middle Guinea. They said the town of Boké, about 100 miles northwest of the capital near the frontier with Portuguese Guinea, probably would be invaded next.

ENTIRELY DESTROYED

"All the points of resistance are entirely destroyed," the government radio said after the first landings.

The radio report said six to 10 ships left Bissau, Portuguese Guinea's capital, moored in Guinean territorial waters and sent in boats with the landing party.

In a personal appeal to U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant, President Toure of Guinea said his country "was the object of aggression by the Portuguese armed forces." He appealed for a force of U.N. troops to help wipe out "the last positions occupied by the Portuguese mercenaries" and to pursue the aggressors' ships from our territorial waters.

The Portuguese government in Lisbon said Guinea's charge of Portuguese involvement in the invasion was without "the slightest foundation." A statement said Portugal "has enough troubles already in its African territories, because of its neighbors, to show interest in creating more." Toure's government openly provides sanctuaries for guerrillas fighting the colonial government in Bissau.

Radio Conakry also reported without elaboration that French

Brothers On Ten-Day, 263 Mile Trot

NEW BUFFALO — Two brothers from Jackson, staging a 10-day, 263-mile run through the Midwest to dramatize the nation's environmental crisis, passed through New Buffalo and southern Berrien county Saturday.

Tony and Joel Ahlstrom, 22 and 25 years old respectively, students from the Trinity Evangelical Divinity school, Trinity college, Deerfield, Ill., left Chicago Nov. 9, enroute to Detroit distributing literature and talking with mayors and newsmen in the hopes that the antipollution problem will be more fully realized.

TIME FOR THANKS

"We feel it is particularly appropriate for us to be running at Thanksgiving," commented Joel. "This is traditionally the time at which Americans express thanks for the blessings our nation enjoys. But, if we don't wake up to the pollution crisis and fight it as a nation, it won't be long before there is nothing left to be thankful for," he said.

Mayor Richard Daley, Chicago, and his commissioner on environmental control, H. W. Poston, have endorsed the effort of these two brothers. Further, they have asked Joel and Tony to carry with them a special letter on pollution to be presented to Mayor Gibbs of Detroit and his commission on environmental control.

The two brothers have mapped out a route involving approximately 263 miles of running each day. The course started in downtown Chicago and will take them through their hometown and then on to Detroit by Nov. 28.

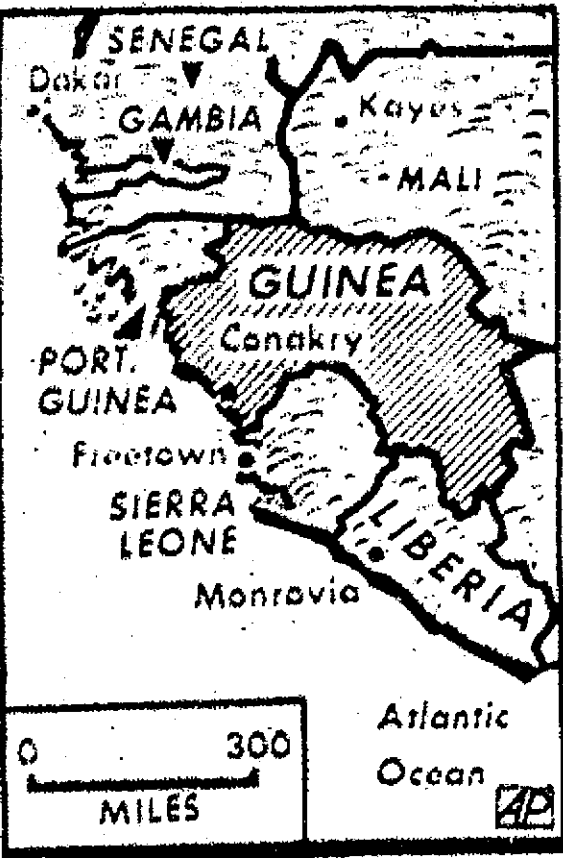

The Izaak Walton League is providing the runners with the antipollution literature.

FINISH UP SATURDAY

The "Solution to Pollution Runners" will be in Three Rivers for a press conference today, and will stop overnight in Kalamazoo. They are expected to arrive in Detroit at 2 p.m. Saturday for a press conference.

The two brothers began their training for the Chicago to Detroit run in February.

Tony said, "We have laid groundwork for a coast-to-coast run next summer. In addition to carrying the message of air pollution control on our cross-country run, we will also be raising money for the Trinity college campus chapter and to share our faith in Jesus Christ."

Holiday Weekend Has Heavy Price

CHICAGO (AP) — An estimated 670 to 770 persons will die on the nation's highways during the four-day Thanksgiving holiday, the National Safety Council says.

The council also predicted Sunday that 29,000 to 34,000 persons will be injured in traffic mishaps over the long weekend which runs from 6 p.m. local time Wednesday, Nov. 25, to midnight Sunday, Nov. 29.

The council said 698 persons died in traffic accidents during last year's Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

Hanoi Plans Boycott

PARIS (AP) — Xuan Thuy, chief of the North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris peace talks announced today his delegation will boycott Wednesday's scheduled session of the talks.

He had scheduled a news conference amid speculation that Hanoi would skip the next session because of U.S. air raids on North Vietnam over the weekend.

North Vietnam said at the time the raids "seriously threaten the Paris conference on Vietnam."

Last May the Communist delegations to the peace talks refused to attend one session following American air attacks on North Vietnam.

By KENNETH J. FREED
WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. decision to bomb anti-aircraft sites deep in North Vietnam has drawn intensive criticism from congressional doves already seeking to reopen a policy debate over President Nixon's Southeast Asia program.

With many Senate Democrats still rankled over Nixon's request last week for $155 million in new aid for Cambodia, Majority Leader Mike Mansfield weekend raids points to an increased, not lesser, American role in Indochina.

"I think it (the bombing) means a recommitment, even if it is only on a temporary basis," the Montana Democrat declared. "I think it could well stiffen the spine of Hanoi and I think it could well retard negotiations in Paris."

In disclosing the raids Saturday, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said the planes—some 200 of them, sources have reported—conducted "limited duration protective reaction strikes" against North Vietnam installations to answer "attacks on our unarmed reconnaissance aircraft."

Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott, Mansfield's Republican counterpart who earlier asserted Democratic attacks on Nixon's Cambodia aid plan were motivated by 1972 presidential politics, made a strong defense

The Standoff In Getting The News

A year ago Vice President Agnew rattled the journalistic world severely, particularly its liberal wing, by accusing it of a subtle bias.

The lift of an eyebrow or a twitch of the lips by a TV newscaster, declared Agnew could do as much to subvert the truth as a writer scribbling out the half truth.

The stormier shock waves from that first blast have subsided and the other day Agnew said American journalism delivers the greatest volume and the most accurately stated material of any. He did, however, hang on to the theme of his initial chiding. The U.S. public, he added, has appointed itself a monitor to see that this high standard is maintained.

While we felt from the beginning that Agnew laid bare a nerve point which has no place in bringing the news out as rapidly, completely and accurately as possible, the Vice President does cover another sensitive spot.

Nobody, public figure or private citizen alike, is gung ho for rapid, complete and accurate reporting if it puts him in a bad light or he feels it may do so.

This is a trait all of us, except the born exhibitionist or masochist, acquires before he learns to creep.

Since human nature is not about to be re-designed in the foreseeable future, the good reporter has to reconcile himself to the situation and work around it the best he can.

A favorite method is quoting an "official spokesman" or a "high government official."

Normally this is done at the spokesman's request and with the newsmen's contrivance.

It protects the former, it eases the latter's job, and it does get the message across to the public.

Better a story decked out in a semblance of credibility than none at all.

The real peril, the one Agnew fails to mention and which helps to bestir that of which he first complained, is the "spokesman" who will not speak or who talks only at a "background briefing."

Almost always, the background briefing is off the record, meaning that if a reporter should relate its disclosures, he is out of bounds forever so far as the interviewee is concerned.

Occasionally, the background briefing has a good purpose in mind, to acquaint the reporter with material which is of no immediate news value until some future development may set a train of events in motion.

All too frequently, they are used to create a favorable image or to try to tone down reverberations resounding in the outside atmosphere.

Recently the Washington press corps managed to wangle what it thought would be an interview with Jorris Leonard, an Assistant Attorney General heading up the Justice Department's civil rights division.

Leonard had kept himself from the press for months and probably for an understandable reason. The Administration's position on civil rights is cloudy.

Before Leonard appeared, an aide announced the session would be a background briefing, completely off the record.

Several reporters left the conference in protest.

The majority stayed and later filed stories which conveyed no message whatever.

Though Leonard denied his own fenders by that caper, the public continues in the dark on a critical issue in this generation.

This is merely one illustration in a fact situation which should be factored out.

Division Game

Leave it to an enterprising reporter to demonstrate how ineffective the nation's security protection is for its most important Washington offices.

Newsman Ken Hartnett, adorned with a full beard and carrying a yellow shoe box under his arm, made his rounds through almost every building in Washington terrorists might like to attack. Although guards were in evidence almost everywhere, only once, at the Supreme Court building, was he or his box challenged.

Otherwise the reporter's walk to the Pentagon offices of Defense Secretary Laird and the Joint Chiefs of Staff, through the Capitol, Justice Department, Senate Office Building, Internal Revenue Service, Post Office Department, Interior Department and General Services Administration was as uneventful as if he had been touring his own neighborhood.

Only hours before his stroll the GSA had issued instructions throughout the federal departments to tighten security precautions because of the wave of terrorist bombings.

Fortunately, that box contained only shoes. But the ease with which the reporter was able to take what should have been a package calling for inspection almost anywhere he wished has brought a new definition of "security" to Washington.

Thanksgiving Heritage

Most Americans will celebrate Thanksgiving with the day off, turkey and watching the football games on TV. The more religious will remember to express their gratitude for the year's blessings. President Nixon stated in his Thanksgiving message: "We give thanks that this nation moves closer each day to peace for all its citizens and all the world." Almost everyone can find something to be thankful for, although for some it may take a bit of straining in a year marked by rising unemployment and continuing foreign and domestic violence.

Historically, Thanksgiving has been celebrated in one way or another around the world after the year's crops were picked and stored. Festivities usually lasted far longer than they do now. The ancient Canaanites reveled for weeks. In Palestine, the Hebrew Feast of the Tabernacles continued for nine days. Greek married women were allotted three days to honor Demeter, the goddess of agriculture. The Romans held far more raucous festivals to give thanks to their harvest goddess, Ceres. Martinmas celebrations in the Middle Ages and Harvest Horns in England often went on until the food and wine supplies were depleted.

Although there is some doubt whether the first American Thanksgiving took place along the James River in Virginia in 1619 or in Plymouth, Mass. in 1621, it is indisputably the oldest civil holiday in the New World. With the exception of President Washington's 1789 Thanksgiving proclamation in honor of the new U.S. Constitution, Thanksgiving remained a local celebration until the mid-19th century.

Most Southerners believed the holiday was a relic of Puritan bigotry, and did not begin celebrating it until after 1855. By 1865, there was enough public support to make Thanksgiving an institutionalized annual national holiday.

Since that time, it has become a uniquely American celebration, one which combines productive enterprise, domestic felicity and religious devotion.

..And Speaking Of Your Health

I INSISTED on staying overnight in the hospital when my child had her tonsils taken out. I had to go to a distant hospital to do this because our local one did not allow mothers to stay overnight.

Some of my friends think I made too much of a fuss over this, and believe that a child is better off in the hospital without his mother.

I know that this is a great area of interest to you. Would you write another column about it?

Mrs. H.P.S., Ohio

Dear Mrs. Dr. Coleman: Good for you! Going to another community is one of the ways that parents can put firm, but subtle pressure on hospitals that still fail to recognize the importance of arranging for a parent to sleep in with a child.

It is gratifying, however, to know that more and more hospitals have passed through the "dark ages" of psychological inadequacy, and now make possible this important contribution to the child.

The psychological aftereffects of hospitalization and surgery can often leave emotional scars that are far worse than the physical condition for which hospitalization was necessary.

Most children, accustomed to the security of their home and family, feel that they have been abandoned at this most crucial time of their lives if they are left alone.

Psychiatrists and psychologists have repeatedly emphasized the need for giving children more rather than less, security during this time.

Surely it is asking too much of a small child to expect him to cope with the frightening and strange setting of a hospital, with its unexpected routines and uniformed people, unless he has been well prepared for these things. If he is all alone, this is an additional hardship.

Usually, the very mothers who feel that the child is "better off" without them are the ones who are most likely to neglect preparing their children for this most important experience.

Children who are told a) the truth about the reasons for their operation, b) what they can expect at the hospital, and c) why certain procedures are necessary, are spared unnecessary fear and anxiety. They are then able to take in stride even the anesthesia, because it has been expected explained to them that this is designed to spare them pain.

Many parents have found it helpful to prepare their children for hospitalization by reading "A Visit to the Hospital," a storybook written under my supervision. It tells the story of one child's hospital experience, and it covers all the essential things a child should know ahead of time.

Believe it or not, experts are also human! They make mistakes, even as you and I, and they also run into troublesome hands, even as you and I. For an extreme example, consider this deal from the 1963 world championship match between Italy and the United States.

At the first table, with the U.S. North-South the bidding went as shown. Three notrump was a sad contract to reach with the North-South holding, but reach it the Americans did and West led a spade.

East won with the king and made the sparkling return of the king of hearts, which held, after which he continued with the ten. South won and returned a low club, the jack losing to the queen. East cashed the nine of hearts and reverted to spades.

Declarer won in dummy with the ace, cashed the ace of diamonds, and led the nine of clubs. West won with the ace, cashed his jack of hearts, returned the jack of diamonds to dummy's queen and East's king, and he won the last two tricks with the 10-9 of diamonds to put declarer down five — 250 points!

At the second table, Italy got to four hearts on this sequence:

East South West North
Pass 1♥ Pass 2♦
Pass 2♥ Pass 2NT
Pass 3♦ Pass 3NT
Pass 4♥ Pass 4♥

Declarer went down only four at this equally horrible contract, so the Italians actually gained 50 points on the deal and wound up with a profit. They didn't really shine in either the bidding or the play, but they did win 2 international match points because they played less badly!

BORN TODAY

Franklin Pierce was a kind and courteous person, weak, unstable and lacking in presidential qualities in the opinion of historians and president watchers.

And, Pierce died in Concord, N.H., on Oct. 8, 1869, in relative obscurity.

As president, Pierce followed a course of appeasing the South at home and toying with grand schemes of territorial expansion of the United States in other areas of the world.

It was the failure of his foreign and domestic policies which prevented him from gaining the nomination for his reelection. Even when he won the nomination for the presidency the first time, it was no overwhelming mandate from the members of his party. He didn't get the party's official backing until the 49th ballot at the Democratic convention of 1852.

Pierce was born in Hillsboro, N.H., in 1804. He graduated from Bowdoin and turned to a career in law.

He won rapid advancement within the Democratic party, partly because of the prestige of his father, Gov. Benjamin Pierce. By 1831 he was speaker of the New Hampshire House of Representatives.

From 1833 to 1837 he served in the U.S. House and from 1837 to 1842 in the Senate. His wife, Jane Appleton, disliked Washington and the somewhat dissipated life led by Pierce. In 1842 Pierce resigned from the Senate and took up a successful law practice in Concord.

During the Mexican War he was a brigadier general. Thereafter he continued to oppose anti-slavery tendencies within the party.

Others born today include Harpo Marx, Boris Karloff and Sir Gilbert Blythe.

THERE'S NO DOUBT -- WINTER HAS ARRIVED!

WINDY STORM FELS TREE: Westerly winds measured at 40 miles per hour early today caused a tree in the 500 block of Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor, to break in half. The falling limbs knocked out one street light, but Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., reported no further damage. Police departments in the Twin Cities area reported no other extensive damage. Winter's first staying snowfall, swept by winds, caused reduced visibility on roads. Slippery conditions developed during the morning traffic rush. (Staff photo)

High Winds May End By Tuesday

Bad Highway Conditions Cause Minor Car Crashes

The first substantial snow storm and cold wave of the season hit southwestern Michigan early this morning, brought in on buffeting winds. Roads were extremely slippery and dangerous. Up to four inches of snow fell in some inland areas.

A rash of minor accidents were reported this morning by area police agencies. High winds and blowing snow was expected to continue today and tonight. Low temperatures, tonight will range from 10 to 15 degrees. Wind velocity is expected to range from 25 to 40 miles per hour today, subsiding gradually by Tuesday morning.

Largest amounts of snowfall were reported inland from Lake Michigan, with Paw Paw and Dowagiac reporting four inches on the ground.

TRAVELERS' WARNING

No area schools were reported closed, but a travelers' warning was issued by the U.S. Weather Bureau in Grand Rapids.

The U.S. Coast Guard station in St. Joseph reported winds of 20 to 35 knots since 4 p.m. Sunday. Some gust peaks hit 50 miles an hour.

Indiana and Michigan Electric Co., Benton Harbor, reported no serious problems to its power lines. John Banyon, district manager of I & M, said the high winds caused a portion of a tree to be blown down on Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor, knocking out a street light pilot wire. A few line fuses were also blown out.

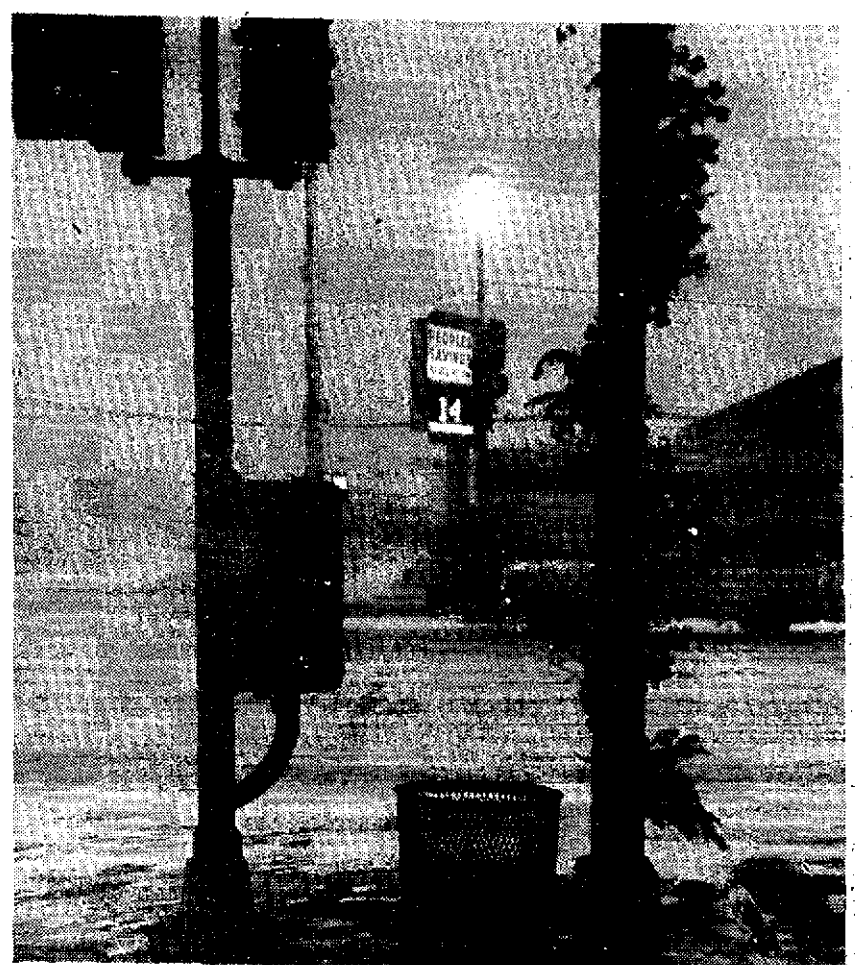

All Upper Peninsula roads were reported snow-covered and slippery with at least three main U.P. roads all but blocked by drifting snow. Houghton reported eight inches of snow on the ground with winds of hurricane force prevalent on Lake Superior.

Gusting winds caused heavy damage at Sault Ste. Marie early Saturday. Trees were uprooted, power lines downed and five aircraft damaged. Power failures were reported throughout the area.

UP SCHOOLS SHUT

Most schools were reported closed in the western part of the Upper Peninsula, and many side roads were blocked.

At least three hunters were reported lost in the storm. Missing were two Tri-Mountain teenagers, David Stimac and Ken Anderson, and Elmer Pulkimen, 55, of South Range.

TEMPERATURE DROPS TO 14: Temperature in the Twin Cities, measured at the Peoples Savings Association, 115 West Main street, Benton Harbor, dropped to 14 degrees today — the lowest temperature for Nov. 23 since 1956, when it reached 11 degrees. Strong winds and snow that added some reality to the Christmas decorations on Main street, came in with the first major cold front of the fall season. Temperatures varied around the county, with Dowagiac reporting 11 degrees this morning. (Staff photo)

Police Arrest Suspect

Stolen Vehicle Runs Into 3 Parked Cars

Benton Harbor police said an auto stolen Saturday night was recovered, but not until it had collided with three other parked autos.

Reports began coming to police about 9 p.m. when occupants of an apartment house at 135 Nowlen, Robert McGhee and Allen Peoz, said their autos were struck in an alley behind the apartment building.

McGhee and Peoz told police they struggled with the driver of the car, but he escaped and drove away.

Soon afterward, Robert McGinnis of 138 1/2 Territorial, reported that his auto had been struck while parked in an alley between Cass and Highland. McGinnis said the driver had fled on foot.

MAN ARRESTED

Arrested a short time later while sitting in front of a building in the 400 block of Highland was Roy Lee Castleberry, 21, of 1223 Blossom Lane, Benton township. Police said Castleberry was booked on five charges, unlawfully driving away an auto, leaving the scene of a property damage accident, no operator's license and drunk and disorderly. Police said they also found pornographic literature on Castleberry's person, and booked him for possession of pornography.

Police said the auto is owned by Leonard Porter and was taken from in front of Porter's home, 633 Highland avenue.

Porter afterward told police he doesn't drive the car. He said it was stolen three months ago by someone who jumped the ignition so the motor could be started without a key. More important, Porter said the car was unsafe to drive because the brakes don't work.

Stevensville Teen Badly Injured

A Stevensville youth, Ronald Andrew Barker, 17, was injured critically Sunday afternoon when the auto he was driving went off the highway and slammed the brick abutment of the Sinbad West sign at 4220 Red Arrow highway, Shoreham, according to sheriff's deputy Dave Tiefenbach.

A spokesman at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, said Barker was in critical condition. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd E. Barker, 5840 Ridge road, Stevensville.

Tiefenbach said the accident was reported at 1:06 p.m. He said the youth was driving south on Red Arrow, went off the road and traveled about 140 feet before striking the sign base. There were no skid marks, Tiefenbach said.

According to Tiefenbach's report, wind gusting between 40 and 50 miles an hour may have been a factor in causing Barker to lose control. Tiefenbach said brickwork on the sign base was damaged.

Migrant Aid Funds Exhausted

No further applications from migrants for transportation funds or emergency food money can be accepted by the Tri-County Community Action Program (Tri-CAP).

David Goldberg, director of emergency food and medical services for Tri-CAP, said all program funds to aid migrant families to return home have been depleted.

He said a total of $4,500 was allocated to 70 families for transportation and another $500 was spent for food stipends.

Tri-CAP is the local anti-poverty agency for Berrien, Cass and Van Buren counties with headquarters located in Benton Harbor.

Financial help to destitute migrant families became available Oct. 14 when the Chicago Regional Office of Economic Opportunity granted Tri-CAP special permission to use unexpended funds from another migrant program for the transportation program.

Cass Officer Deputy Sheriff Has Deer Stolen

CASSOPOLIS — A Cass county sheriff's deputy bagged a deer on a hunting excursion in northern Michigan but wound up filing a police report instead of bringing it back.

The deputy, identified as Sergeant Howard Sheline, told Kalkaska county authorities the tagged deer was stolen while he went to get help to drag the catch back to camp. Sheline said the camp was only a short distance from where he shot the deer.

Kalkaska authorities notified Sheline over the weekend that they had located the deer and that a Detroit area man had been issued a summons.

Sheline was debating now about undertaking the 500 miles round trip required to get the deer back. Sheline said the buck was one-horned and showed three points. He hit it in the right eye.

Despite Ruling Allegan Continues Auxiliary Services

ALLEGAN — The Allegan County Intermediate board of education has voted unanimously to continue auxiliary services and shared time programs to parochial school students after Dec. 18.

Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelley had set the Dec. 18 deadline following overwhelming approval of Proposal "C" at the November general election.

William A. Sexton, secretary of the county board, said the board's decision came after "carefully reviewing the Michigan Association of School Board's resolution on the proposal 'C' aftermath." The Allegan board's position supports the state association's stand on the question.

Sexton said the policy will be followed "until such time as a court of competent jurisdiction orders school boards to discontinue such services." He said the "open door" policy would insure the availability of diagnostic and speech correction services provided to the county's nine parochial schools after Kelley's Dec. 18 deadline.

It's Third Such Death In Cass

Michigan Deer Season Toll Is Now 19

DOWAGIAC — A retired farmer who moved into the area this summer died Saturday when his shotgun discharged accidentally while he was hunting near here.

The victim was identified as George A. Wilson, 84, of M-40 South, route 1, Dowagiac, who came here in June with members of his family from Hardy, Ark.

The death was one of four recorded among Michigan hunters over the weekend, pushing the toll for the first week of the firearm hunting season to 19. Of the total, eight died from gunshot, nine from heart attacks and one from carbon monoxide poisoning.

State police said another 25 persons were wounded with stray shots during the week.

RULED ACCIDENTAL.
Cass Coroner Rollo Schoff said Wilson died instantly when the blast from the 20 gauge shotgun ripped upward into his chin. The victim's glasses were found imbedded in a tree limb 14 feet above the body. Schoff ruled the death accidental.

Sheriff James Northrop said the victim, his son John, 32, and a son-in-law, Larry Tinkey, 22, route 2, Decatur were deer hunting on the George Elliott farm, Glenwood road, about four miles northeast of Dowagiac in Wayne township when the accident occurred about 5 p.m.

The trio was going through a pine grove, Northrop said, when the 20 gauge shotgun discharged.

According to Northrop, tests of the shotgun showed that it would discharge if dropped butt first on the ground or other hard object.

John Wilson, whose address was the same as the victim's, said he was walking about six feet in front of his father and heard the blast. He told deputies he turned in time to see his father fall.

THIRD IN MONTH
The death was the third related to hunting in the county since Oct. 26.

A 16-year-old youth, Thomas Streeter, route 1, Edwardsburg, was accidentally shot Oct. 26 while hunting with a brother in a field near M-205 and US 12.

Robert Willis, also 16, Niles, was shot accidentally Oct. 31 while getting ready to go hunting with a friend.

Mr. Wilson came to Dowagiac from Hardy, Ark. He was born March 3, 1886 in Willford, Ark., the son of George A. and Sarah Jane Morton Wilson.

Surviving are his wife, Ruby, at home; four daughters, Mrs. Larry (Mary) Tinkey, Decatur, and Misses Pearl, Lorine and Louise, all at home; seven sons, Hubert, Jasper, and John, all of Dowagiac; Herbert in Pueblo, Colo.; Bryan in Thayer, Mo.; George Jr. in Maynard, Ark.; and William in Houston, Tex.; 19 grandchildren; four great-grandchildren; and a half-sister, Miss Eva Ziger, and a half-brother, John Smith, both in Hardy.

The body is to be flown from the McLaughlin funeral home, Dowagiac, to the Higgenbotham funeral home in Hardy, Ark. Burial will be in Turkey Pen cemetery, in Hardy.

Two-State Case Kidnap Suspect Sought In Cass

CASSOPOLIS — Cass county deputies today resumed a search of the Cassopolis area for a suspect involved in a reported kidnaping of a South Bend, Ind., man Sunday night.

Frank Bass, 38, told officers that a man forced his way into his car at a South Bend intersection, and brandishing a revolver, took over the wheel.

Bass said the intruder drove North on Ind.-23 and on M-62 at speeds of up to 110 miles an hour, before the engine of Bass' car failed about three miles south of Cassopolis.

The victim said the intruder, still pointing his gun, ordered Bass to stay in the car while he fled east across the cornfield.

DEPUTIES ALERTED
Deputies said Bass reported the crime by phone from the home of George Smith, near the disabled car, at 8:45 p.m. Smith said the ride from South Bend took only a few minutes.

Twelve officers responded to the alarm, at times making a house search of the area. The officers involved represented the sheriff's department, Calvin township constables, Oia w Edwardsburg townships police, and Niles-based state police. The Niles post's tracking dog was unsuccessful in picking up the trail.

Bass told deputies that the intruder spoke very little during the wild ride. As he first forced his way into the car, Bass said, he asked which was the quickest route out of South Bend, then remained nearly silent as he drove.

SUSPECT DESCRIBED
Deputies said Bass described the man as about 35 years old, about 5-foot 10 inches, with a conventional haircut and clean shaven. Bass said he was wearing a blue shirt, brown pants and a brown trench coat.

Deputies said that unless the intruder quickly got a ride, he would have to seek shelter in an area home because of the weather. The temperature got down to about 20 degrees, with winds gusting to about 40 mph.

At midmorning today the search had uncovered no new leads, deputies said. South Bend detectives were to come to Cassopolis today to fingerprint the Bass car.

Decatur Teen Waits Sentencing

PAW PAW — A pre-sentence investigation has been scheduled for a Decatur youth who pleaded guilty in Seventh District Court to a charge of use of marijuana.

District Court Judge Luther I. Daines ordered the investigation Friday when Daniel Haas, 17, pleaded to the high misdemeanor charge which had been amended from a felony charge of possession of marijuana.

Haas also stood mute to a charge of drunk driving.

Haas was booked at county jail by sheriff's deputies in mid-October when a small bag of leafy material fell from his clothing as he was being searched by deputies at the jail.

Two other persons appearing in district court Friday received 30-day county jail terms after pleading guilty to charges of simple larceny from a vacant rural house.

Ronnie Wireman, 24, and Earles Haskell Greene, 22, both of Lawton had originally been charged with breaking and entering.

Similar charges against Wireman's wife, Dorothy, 19, were dismissed.
